to whom it my concern...this whole matter has been nothing but a joke to me...a total waist of money and time...with the money and time spent on this whole debacle all parties involved could have new technologies out there for everyone to have and us...but instead what we have is a company like AOL Time Warner looking for more money that they don t deserve(let them go out and do it instead of depending on another company to do it for them)...i think that Microsoft has done a good job and has worked hard to get where there at...i will always buy and us their products...on the other hand i would never us or do anything with AOL Time Warner...sounds like to me they should be investigated for their aggressive business practices also...they are a legal monopoly buy our own government...in closing its time to get back to work on newer technologies and get out of the court room... thank you very much...
